

...the author is a Virginia lady, and wrote what she saw and heard in the old Dominion. Probably no work on Southern life has elicited such unqualified praise and been so popular with all classes. Painted by an eye-witness, the scenes and incidents are faithful and graphic, while the shrewd attention of young and old, while in point of literary excellence its eminent superiority must be acknowledged. The book is a treasure to all who become acquainted with this really charming and valuable work.

VALUABLE "RECIPIES."—The unpleasant odor produced by perspiration is frequently the cause of vexation to persons who are subject to it. Nothing is simpler than to remove this odor much more effectively than by the application of such costly unguents and perfumes as are in use. It is only necessary to procure some of the compound spirits of ammonia, and place about two table-spoonsful in a basin of water, and wafting the fumes, hands and arms with this water the skin is clean, sweet and fresh as one could wish. The wash is perfectly harmless, and very cheap. It is recommended on the authority of an experienced physician.

An officer who witnessed the naval engagement in Mobile Bay informs the New Orleans Picayune that the rebel iron-clad ram Tennessee was rammed by the Hartford, the Luckawanna and the Monongahela, the Luckawanna striking her under full headway, and all the vessels delivering a heavy fire at the same time. The Monongahela, meantime, put one solid 15-inch shot at her which penetrated her armor, struck about an inch through, and lodged on the opposite side.

Fiske Medical Prize Question.
THE TRUSTEES of the Fiske Fund at the annual meeting of the Rhode Island Medical Society, held at Providence June 1st, 1864, announced, as the premium of one hundred dollars offered by them in 1863, for the best dissertation on the following subject:
1. Gunshot wounds, particularly those caused by newly-invented missiles, has been awarded to the author of the dissertation bearing the motto—
"Deus ex omni loco."

And upon breaking the seal of the accompanying package they learned that the successful competitor was Alexander R. Becker, M.D., of Providence, Rhode Island.
They offer the following subjects for 1865:
1. The evidence in cases of inflammation and febrile diseases have undergone any general change of type?
2. The effects of climate in America on the hereditary disease.
For the best dissertation on either of these subjects they offer a premium of one hundred dollars.
Every competitor for a premium is expected to conform to the following regulations, viz:
To forward to the Secretary of the Fiske Fund Trustees, on or before the first day of May, 1865, free of all expense, a copy of his dissertation, with a motto written thereon, and also accompanying a sealed packet, thereupon the same motto inscribed upon the outside, and his name and place of residence written thereon.
Previously to receiving the premium awarded, the author of the successful dissertation must transfer to the Trustees all his right, title and interest in and to the same, for the use, benefit and behoof of the Fiske Fund.
Letters accompanying the unsuccessful dissertations will be destroyed by the Trustees, unopened, and the successful dissertation may be retained by its respective author, if application be made thereof within three months.
